WINTER TIME IS
TIME TO SLOW DOWN, ENJOY QUIET MOMENTS,
BREATHE FRESH AIR AND ENJOY THE STILLNESS

BE NICE....

It is that time of year again.....Sickness season. Bleh! Please use common sense in preventing the spread of germs to the best of YOUR ability. Cough/sneeze into the crook of your arm. Don't be judgmental if someone is wearing a mask. You don't know their circumstance. Nor do you need to - just be KIND!!!

Historic short stories about Oregon's famous ghost town, Shaniko.
Fun and informational "corner". ~ Submitted by Debra Holbrook

Shaniko: The Circus Came To Town: Part 2

Robert Altermatt wrote about attending a circus in Wasco. These types of unusual activities were often more memorable to report than holidays. Bob called them "Amusements" in his book. Shaniko Remembered. The town of Wasco in Sherman County had been selected for several visits by the A. G. Barnes Show. It was a full three ring circus. The visits were one day events. The typical side shows and popcorn stands were also offered.

Bob visited the unloading with the help of the elephants. He watched as the tent pegs, "old automobile rear axles" were driven into the ground by a series of sledgehammer strikes by 3 or 4 men. The tent itself was raised by horses pulling on the support cables.

The noon parade of elephants ridden by pretty girls, cage wagons of lions and tigers were pulled along as was the band wagon. The Calliope was the "caboose" of the parade. Bob commented on, though not witnessed, some of the dangers associated with some of the acts. The trapeze artist falling to their deaths, a lion tamer's fate in the cage of a roaring and snarling lions and tigers.

Bob finished with, "Tusko, the largest elephant in the world stood wrapped in chains, all four feet shackled to stakes, large signs warned bystanders away," Bob read up about Tusko and learned the elephant was as big and uncontrollable as advertised.

An Elf Named Freddie

Once all of Santa's little elves, craved
some credit for themselves.
All year long, they'd work away,
while reindeer come for just one day.

And for that simple one night ride,
their names are sung both far and wide.
Now is this fair? Can you, yourself,
give the name of just one elf?

These little guys who make the toys
that Santa takes to girls and boys,
Thought it would not be wrong
and so they wrote a grand elf song.

"Here's to the elves, Bill and Harry,
Charley, Roger, Willie, Mary,
Edgar, Rosie, Lucy and Fred.
Joe and Howie, Ruth and Ted."

So it went, verse after verse.
Each extra verse just made it worse.
When old Santa heard their song,
the thing it was 40 minutes long!

It started, he cried, "Ho, Ho, Ho!"
Ten verses and he shouted, "Whoa!
Here's one thing I know real well...
a list of all you elves won't sell."

The thing you really have to show,
is one to be your elf hero.
When folks cheer, their praise will stand
for all the elves in Santa Land.

The way to make a good selection, is to hold a special elf election." They did and when the votes were cast, there was a famous elf at last!

The whole elf nation was ready to proclaim their hero "Friendly Freddie!" Now, Friendly Fred was very cool, he earned all A's in Elf High School.

Here are some talents of this elf.
Why, he could line dance by himself.
He'd play the strings right off a fiddle
and he'd solve the toughest riddle.

Intelligent and handsome too,
he was quite tall at two foot two.
On tiptoes he could clearly see above the tallest reindeer knee.

Amid elf cheers in Santa Land,
Santa spoke and shook Fred's hand,
"Friendly Freddie, I think, perhaps,
you'll fly with me and read the maps."

Fred took a minute to absorb it, he'd be the first elf into orbit. And as his elf heart swelled with pride, he cried, "I'll be on Santa's ride!"

Now each and every Christmas night,
Freddie is there on Santa's right.
Without him Santa wouldn't know
how to get where he must go.

With those maps Fred's sure to be an expert in geography.
Now all the elves are very proud,
as they sing this song, long and loud.....

Sing to the
"Up On A Rooftop" melody

Up on the housetop goes our Fred
All dressed up in his suit of red
Helping Santa deliver toys
That we elves made for girls and boys

Go! Fred! Go! Oh, what a show
Go! Fred! Go! Our elf hero-oo
We elves can cheer the whole night long
And we can sing this nice elf song

The whole year long we work away
To build a happy Christmas Day
And we are proud tonight because
An elf is riding with Santa Claus
Go! Fred! Go! Oh, what a show
Go! Fred! Go! Our elf hero-oo
We elves can cheer the whole night long
And we can sing this nice elf song

So Santa likes this new elf song
That makes elves know that they belong
Here is a secret he shares with you
The reindeer like to sing it too!

Go! Fred! Go! Oh, what a show
Go! Fred! Go! Our elf hero-oo
Reindeer will cheer the whole night long
As we all sing this nice elf song

What's A'Round

Ferrets, ferrets, ferrets!! 3 sisters must stay together. We've had them since they were 6 months old and love them immensely, however, our Sphynx is highly allergic to them. They live comfortably in their ferret abode and they do run freely in one room and will do so forever if we aren't able to rehome them. They'll come w/any supplies we have for them, inc hutch. Must stay together. $500 for all. Call/text 541-815-6954. (CWufn)

At the age of 64 Uncle Wally had to have a wisdom tooth removed. What was supposed to be a simple extraction proved to be a 4-hour ordeal.

As my uncle, pale and a bit unsteady, prepared to leave the dentist's office, the attractive young receptionist expressed her concern. "Would you like me to walk home with you?" she asked.

He considered the offer carefully. "Not today," he said, "but maybe sometime when I'm feeling better!"
